Italo-German Accord Unites Fascist Powers Against Communism

By KINGSBURY SMITH

LONDON, Oct. 26.—All Western Europe today lined up against Russia to prevent a war's growing out of intervention in Spain as the 27-Power Neutrality Commission, in a practical ultimatum, called upon Moscow to disclose its real intentions regarding aiding Madrid, or quit the committee.

The powers impatiently awaited the Soviet Union's reply to demands made on Ambassador Ivan Maisky to state exactly what he meant when he said the Soviets were free to aid leftist Spain as much as "other countries" were helping the rebels.

Unless the Soviets speedily clarify this statement, the danger persists that Italy will walk out of the non-intervention committee and it will disband.

Report Munitions Enroute.

Meanwhile, the British government was seriously perturbed over reports Soviet munition ships are already enroute to Spain. Officials were unable to confirm that such vessels had been sighted passing through the Dardanelles.

PA NEWC OBSERVES

While the weather we have been having this month may interfere some with duties on the farm, the farmers are extremely grateful for the precipitation. To date, almost five inches of rain has fallen during the month, and it has been soaking well into the ground. This will aid in replenishing wells and springs which were starting to dry up, and will get the moisture down into the ground before freezing weather sets in.

According to the forecaster of the weather at Pittsburgh, first freezing weather of the fall may arrive in this district tonight. Likewise, a snow flurry is also likely.

State highway department employees in the state are beginning erection of the snow fences along improved highways in preparation for the winter.

The week-end was about as fine a period of fall weather as could have been ordered. Auto traffic on the highways was exceedingly heavy as a result.

Motorists are finding the improved Rural route from downtown to the North Hill a quick short-cut to drive. There has been an increasing flow of travel over the thoroughfare since the road was opened last Friday morning.

When Governor Landon comes to Pittsburgh to speak there'll probably be a good New Castle representation in the audience to greet him. Now

Roosevelt Plans Final Speeches

Will Make Address This Afternoon At Howard University

NINE ADDRESSES FOR FINAL WEEK

By GEORGE DURNO
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—With the negro vote regarded as a possible balance of power in some of the key states east of the Mississippi and north of the Ohio, President Roosevelt's address this afternoon here at Howard university was being waited with more than passing interest in political circles.

The President's speech at the Negro institution of higher education was to be the first of nine he has contracted to make between now and election day. White House officials, calling attention to the fact his appearance at Howard university was for the purpose of dedicating a new chemistry building erected by PWA, said the address would be non-political.

Heavy Play for Negro Vote

The Democratic high command quite frankly has made a heavy play to win the normally Republican negro vote over to the Roosevelt ticket. Polls indicate they have been meeting with success—presumably because of work-relief.

Negroes therefore were looking forward to Mr. Roosevelt's speech at Howard, even though it had been billed in advance as of a non-political nature.

The Washington Tribune

sole newspaper printed in the national capital exclusively for negroes, declares editorially that the President, in his appearance at Howard, will be "making a bid" to win states north of the Mason-Dixon line where there is a heavy negro registration. Those mentioned are New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, New Jersey, Illinois, Indiana, Missouri and Michigan.

How many negro votes there are is hard to determine with exactness.

Alice Longworth Says

(Special To The News)

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—The Republican National Committee reports that unless contributions increase a deficit of two millions is possible. The New Deal party is more fortunate in this respect.

Checks totaling $470,000.00 are on the way to the farmers, and the president has approved new PWA grants of eight million. This money is being judiciously distributed in those states that are considered doubtful by the New Deal board of strategy.

Of course, these checks are not sent out over the signature of the Democratic National Committee.

They come from that inexhaustible source of the more abundant life, the United States treasury. But is it inexhaustible? Some say no, some say yes. But at least the supply will hold out until the close of the present campaign.

When Governor Landon comes to Pittsburgh to speak there'll probably be a good New Castle representation in the audience to greet him. Now

Governor Landon Warns Of Dictatorship Program Of Advisors To President

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON

International News Service Staff Correspondent

BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 26.—While charging the New Deal with using the taxpayer's money illegally to foster class hatred and entrench itself in power, Gov. Alfred M. Landon today declared the overwhelming issue of the campaign was the plan of President Roosevelt's "intimate circle of advisors" to destroy the American form of government and substitute an alien form of federal dictatorship.

All other issues—broken promises, waste, extravagance, political coercion in relief, debauching of the civil service, alliance with crooked city machines, "Farleyizing" of the WPA, fostering of monopoly, warfare on small business, unbalanced budget—Landon said were overshadowed by the "threat to constitutional government that now menaces our country in the New Deal."

Landon made this charge in a prepared address to cheering thousands just outside the Mount Royal station. It was his opening shot on his final visit to the Atlantic seaboard after having traversed the continent following his Los Angeles speech last week, and the Republican nominee opened his final eastern drive here with a smashing attack upon the New Deal.

He warned the American people against deceiving themselves on the goal of the New Deal.

After reciting how the founding fathers set up the Republic with the executive, legislative and judicial branches independent of each other as a "protection against tyranny" and wrote the Bill of Rights into the Constitution,

Rebel Troops Make Advance In New Sector

Slash Their Way Toward Madrid In Area Of Tagus River

Report Loyalists Abandon 100 Prisoners In Retreat From Aranjuez

By THOMAS A. LOAYZA
International News Service Staff Correspondent

MADRID, Oct. 26.—Slashing their way up the Tagus river to menace the capital from a new sector, rebel troops today occupied the heights overlooking Aranjuez and then, turning northward along the Madrid railroad, advanced on Alcalá de Henares.

West and northwest of Madrid, however, the insurgents met a furious counter-attack by numerically superior forces, holding up the rebel advance east of Navalcarnero, and hurling back the rebel lines several miles in the vicinity of Navalpalo.

In announcing the approach to Aranjuez and the military occupation of the Madrid-Alcalá railway cut by aerial bombs a fortnight ago—Gen. Queipo de Llano, broadcasting from Seville, said the loyalists abandoned 100 prisoners when they retreated.

Newspaperman Freed

Among the prisoners thus freed was Henry Tilton Gorrell, of Washington, D. C., an American news correspondent. James Minifie, a Canadian correspondent for a New York newspaper, was still listed as "missing."

Heavy fighting is now going on at Navalpalo, where a rebel column was forced to retreat to Reguerinos, six miles from the objective.

In the Navalcarnero sector, where the rebels have made their closest approach to Madrid in force—12 miles—the loyalists held their lines, although they were said to have suffered heavy losses under the devastating artillery and machine gun fire of the better-equipped rebels.

Pitched Battle When Com-

Speech

BROWDER SAYS HE WILL PROSECUTE

(International News Service)
TAMPA, Fla., Oct. 26.—A dozen or more Tampa communists nursed cracked heads and bruises today, aftermath of a pitched battle yesterday when a band of men broke up a political rally just as Earl Browder, communist candidate for president, started to speak.

"Mobs in Tampa," Browder charged before entraining for Detroit, where he is scheduled to speak tomorrow night, "are working in collusion with the police to deny freedom of speech."

Browder said he would seek criminal prosecution against the persons who caused the disturbance. Sheriff J. R. McLeod said today that he was out of town yesterday when the disturbance occurred, and would take no action unless a formal complaint is made.

Red-Blooded Americans.

Rallying to the cry "All red-blooded Americans, come on! Come on boys!" the band of men, wearing orange American Legion caps, surged through the crowd to the flag-draped outdoor speakers stand, their fists flying.

"Take it easy on the flag, boys. Don't let the flag touch the ground." The strapping leader shouted as the wooden scaffolding teetered precariously. Finally it upset, but Browder and the other members of the Communist party on the rostrum slid to the ground unjacketed.

The men took the flags from the stand before upsetting it, carefully rolling them up.

Besides Browder those on the platform included Albert Simmons, chairman of the arrangements committee for the rally; Waldo Frank, New York author and lecturer; Mrs. Ethel Norman of Lakeland, Fla., communist candidate for congress; and Alfred Bell, state secretary of the party.

REPUBLICAN TICKET

THREE STATES MAY HOLD KEY TO PRESIDENCY

sylvania are important to the Democratic—but to the Republicans they are absolutely vital.

The Democrats demonstrated 20 years ago they could elect a president (Woodrow Wilson) without either state. Charles Evans Hughes won them all in 1916 and retired on election night believing himself to be the next president of the United States. He awoke in the morning to find that the Democratic south and the Agrarian west had snatched victory from him.

MIDDLE ATLANTIC HOLDS KEY

This year again finds the Democratic south and the Agrarian west again in something approaching a Democratic partnership. At least, all the polls and surface indications point to it, and therefore the populous Middle Atlantic seaboard and especially these three states of New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania, become absolutely vital to the Republican cause.

No amount of Republican figuring can produce a victory for Gov. Landon without them. Even so ebullient an optimist as John Hamilton, the red-headed Republican chairman, conceded a few days ago that there was no way of figuring a Republican victory without New York and Pennsylvania, which between them have 83 electoral votes, almost a third of the necessary 266.

Both sides are outwardly confident. Normally all three states are Republican in national elections, however Democratic they may go sometimes in state and local contests. One has to go far back into history to find a normal year Democratic victory in any of them.

In 1912 Wilson carried New York and New Jersey, thanks to the Republican split, and Theodore Roosevelt carried Pennsylvania. Not until 1932 did a Democratic candidate have a look-in. Four years ago Mr. Roosevelt carried his own state rather handsomely. But he barely squeezed through in New Jersey by 31,000 votes, and he lost Pennsylvania to Hoover by 157,000.

Republican Confidence

Republican confidence, or hope, is based this year upon several factors: In Pennsylvania, the Republicans argue that certainly Gov. Landon is not weaker a candidate than was Mr. Hoover. Therefore, he is due to increase materially the Hoover margin of 157,000 plurality four years ago.

In Jersey, they emphasize that Mr. Roosevelt only carried it by 31,000 votes, and many times that number of Republican votes went to him four years ago on the prohibition issue alone. Prohibition is not an issue this year.

In New York, the Republicans are counting upon the return of the large up-state Republican majorities of other years, plus what they hope will be an indifferent or "knifing" Tammany in the five great boroughs.

Democratic Hopes

Against these factors, the Democrats have some of their own which they find exceedingly comforting. They are counting upon an almost solid organized labor vote in all three states, which they did not have in '32; a great majority of the negro vote, normally Republican and exceedingly important should the election be close; plus the predominant support of the millions in these three states who have been fitted directly from the New Deal, either through relief or otherwise.

Registration figures in all three states are at new record highs. In New York nearly 6,000,000 have registered; in Pennsylvania, some 4,300,000, and in Jersey, approximately 2,200,000.

Both sides profess to extract satisfaction and comfort from these tremendous registration figures.

The Republicans claim they mean an enormous "protest" vote against the New Deal. The Democrats claim they represent hundreds of thousands of "forgotten men" votes who are coming out on Nov. 3 to express their gratitude for and support of the New Deal, which has fed and clothed them during the past three years.

Somewhere between those two arguments may lie the truth.

NO PLACE FOR POLITICS

SOCIAL security is brought sharply to public attention because it has been a bone of contention of the political campaign. That may be a good way to start, but it would be a poor way to finish consideration of the subject. As soon as possible it should be got out of politics. It is a national problem of terrific import.

Dr. William Haber, professor of economics at the University of Michigan, discussed unemployment at the recent Michigan Conference of Social Work. His acquaintance with the subject is not purely academic; for several years he was deputy commissioner of the Michigan PWA.

Dr. Haber said that the depression aroused the public conscience concerning care of the poor, and we have abandoned the position that the poor are responsible for their own condition. He added that more than half of those engaged in public work projects probably never will be absorbed by industry and a very large number of those on direct relief never again will find self-sustaining employment.

Such statements challenge serious thought. It is well to make relief a burden of the public conscience, but it is extremely dangerous to make it a matter of politics.

There is nothing new or startling in the fact that men inevitably reach an age at which they compete with difficulty with younger men for wage-earning jobs. But there is danger in the sentimentalism which contends that the federal government must immediately make itself responsible for the sole support of all who cannot be given full-time employment at living wages in the industries. And history proves that competition among partisans for political leadership through lavish expenditure of public relief money is the surest way to start a nation on the road to ruin.

TREASURY DEFICIT

Stated in the best manner of the Roosevelt baseball score-board method, the government deficit for the first quarter of the fiscal year was 38 per cent under the corresponding period a year ago. It induces an expansive feeling of satisfaction and confidence, but—

The elated feeling is soon scattered by delving into the figures. For while the deficit was approximately $307,000,000 less than in the corresponding three months of 1935, the actual decrease in spending was only $138,000,000, the difference being accounted for by increased receipts of $169,000,000. A not reassuring outlook is that general expenditures rose $109,000,000 as recovery and relief costs fell $27,000,000.

If the deficit for each of the remaining quarters were no greater than the $524,000,000 for the one just ended, the total deficit for the year would be twice the entire cost of running the federal government in 1914.

As of September 30 the national debt was $33,831,790,000 or $4,400,000,000 above the corresponding date a year ago. Using the estimated deficit for this year the debt would be within touching distance of $36,000,000,000. But by the expedient of drawing down the working balance of the general fund, which includes repaid loans made by the government, the administration has announced the debt total will be held down to little more than $34,000,000,000. It may conceal, but it cannot dispel, the real fact.

SEARCH AND SEIZURE

Governor Landon at Los Angeles was fully justified in his bitter condemnation of "fishing expeditions" conducted by congressional investigating committees. They have, as the candidate said, been "contrary to the spirit of the Bill of Rights" even when they have been within the letter of the constitution. Actually the Black lobby investigating committee last March was held by the District of Columbia supreme court to have violated the guaranty of the Fourth Amendment to the people "to be secure in their . . . papers and effects against unreasonable searches and seizures."

That was a case in which the committee sought to subpoena all telegrams that passed between a Chicago law firm and Washington during ten months, hoping against hope that "something would turn up" of a criminal nature, instead of limiting itself to inquiring into episodes it had reason to suspect.

The motives that have actuated too many investigations were cogently characterized by Governor Landon in these words:

"Witnesses have been brought before investigating committees and treated as criminals at the bar of justice. But with this difference: Their rights have not been respected as in our courts of law. For many of these investigating committees have acted as prosecuting attorney, jury and judge combined. The sentence they pass has too frequently been a reprobation unjustly smeared before the public. Is this an undermining of our freedom? You know it."

Prying and snooping for snooping's sake is no proper function of a government of the free.

IN THE SPANISH civil war, hostages have been seized, on both sides, including many women, and are held with this threat: "If you kill hostages taken from my side, I'll kill yours."

England and other countries almost tearfully are begging both sides in Spain to exchange hostages instead of murdering them; the British government officially expressed the fear that women "are in danger of wholesale massacre." Nice civilization, is it not?

A DISTINGUISHED colored preacher in Harlem who calls himself "Father Divine" and is called "God" by his followers, uses the English language in a way that competes well with Kant's "Kritik of Pure Reason." A lawyer trying vainly to collect a judgment from Father Divine was told by the latter, that even when physically absent he could continue his work by "being spiritually charged with the magnetic current of God's infiniteness."

This staggered the lawyer then Father Divine, otherwise known as "dean of the universe," added:

"And when they concentrate on the fundamentals, they receive the reaction of the spirit by transmission."

The case was adjourned for the day.

MACHINERY simplifies war—when one side lacks machinery, Italians in Ethiopia found it necessary to take a fortress held by natives rebelling against the new government. It was a fortress 3,000 feet up, which, in old days, might have held out a long time.

One thousand Italian army trucks most of them small American machines, each with its machine gun, spitting bullets as it advanced, climbed the mountain sides while heavy cannons fired exploding shells at the fortress. Next Italian airplanes flew over, dropping shells from above, while Italian soldiers charged with the bayonet; the Ethiopians departed, leaving many TOWN GAMBLER He was supposed to be a despicable character, an example to all small boys of what they shouldn't grow up to be.

He ran a saloon and there was a gambling room in the rear. All the other saloons in town—and we had 36 of them—had rear rooms where "the boys" used to get together on Saturday night and gamble. Gamble money they couldn't afford to lose. Gamble money that should have paid the grocery bill. And sometimes gamble money that wasn't theirs. But it was generally understood that in this man's place, there was Big Gambling and this man was a Great Gambler.

People talked about him as they didn't talk about other saloonkeepers who allowed a little gambling in their places. Most of the others were family men, they'd lived in our town all their lives, raised their families there; weren't different.

But the man I'm talking about was a stranger. We didn't know his background, and he didn't talk about himself. He was handsome, quiet, soft-spoken, likable. Even as a youngster I knew that. I used to go into his saloon once a month to collect for the town paper and he was always gentlemanly. And it was generally understood that in this man's place, there was Big Gambling and this man was a Great Gambler.

Second Degree Murder Charges Brought Against Drunken Driver In Pittsburgh

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, Oct. 26.—Shaken and visibly nervous after looking violent death in the face, Joseph Cetinski, 23-year-old coal miner, today told police he would plead guilty to charges he was the driver of a car which Saturday night ran down and killed Charles Bumbar, 42, of Coveland.

Cetinski was forced, as part of Criminal Court Judge M. A. Musmano's war against drunken drivers, to look at Bumbar's body in the county morgue. He made no comment in the morgue, but turned ghastly pale.

Judge Musmanno asserted second degree murder charges would be brought against the youth.

Local Jewry To Honor L. Ruzewich

Honoring L. Ruzewich, long a prominent member of the various Jewish activities of New Castle, testimonial will be held in Tefereth Israel on Sunday evening, November 1, it was announced today. Judge Benjamin Lenchner of Pittsburgh will be the speaker of the evening.

become large, and horns would appear on her head. She would walk on all fours like an animal."

Still another declared:

"My brother was driving his car, when all of a sudden a team of wild horses plunged into his windshield. He turned across the road, then there weren't any horses at all."

A MIDDLE aged woman accused the "witch" of going through the town "switching a devil's tail."

The judge wisely advised the self-deceived witnesses to go home, say their prayers and "get the idea out of their heads."

The accused woman was entirely guiltless of all wrong-doing; neighbors were suspicious because she gathered herbs in the field to make a tea for her rheumatic husband.

ONCE A WOMAN completely innocent would have been burned alive on such worthless testimony, and first tortured into confessing anything. It is not so long since an English king approved the execution of witches because they had gone out to sea on a broom to rouse a storm against ships. On that occasion confessions were obtained by torture; the plan was to torture "witches" until they confessed. Concerning an occasion when storms bothered the bride of King James on her way from Denmark, Dr. Andrew D. White, president of Cornell university writes:

"A Dr. Fian, while his legs were crushed in the boats and wedges were driven under his finger nails, confessed that several hundred witches had gone to sea in a sieve from the Port of Leith, and had raised storms and tempests to drive back the princess."

FURTHERMORE, in Scotland, "At Leith, in 1664, nine women were burned together. Condemnations and punishment of women in batches were not uncommon. Torture was used far more freely in Scotland than in England, both in detecting witches and in punishing them. The natural argument developed in hundreds of pupils was this: If the all-wise God punishes His creatures with tortures infinite in cruelty and duration, why should not His ministers, as far as they can, imitate Him?"

IT SEEMED a sound argument in those days, when a devil with horns, cloven hoofs and a spearhead at the end of his tail was taken literally. (Copyright, 1936, by King Features Syndicate, the International copyright and all other rights reserved.)

BABIES NOTICE changes in the weather, particularly young babies, and are affected, sometimes dangerously, by meteorological changes. In the south of France, death is caused in young children by winds from the Sahara Desert, crossing the Mediterranean and following up the Rhone Valley.

All the children in one baby clinic became extremely agitated, all began crying at once, and investigation showed that at that hour, 9:30 p.m., "a great mass of air from the North Pole suddenly arrived, coming into contact with another mass of air from the south were "electrified differently," seriously affecting the children. We know little about electricity—not even what it is, with all our talk about the quantum theory and other recondite science.

It's True—You're wrong if you believe that the sun's rays reaching the earth are hotter in summer than in winter. They aren't! Winter is a cold period not because the sun's rays are cooler, but because there are so many fewer hours of sunlight in winter than in summer, and because the rays strike the earth at a lower angle on the average. The earth is nearer the sun in winter, and since the air is clearer in winter, less of the sun's heat is cut off by dust in the atmosphere.

E. H. P. Irvin, Wiseman, Alaska, says I'm wrong if I believe that Secretary of State William H. Seward bought Alaska because a professor advised it would be a "great source of ice and fish for the Pacific coast." He repudiates:

"Alaska was bought as a blind to cover the payment of a just debt to Russia, incurred when the Russian grand fleet visited the U. S. as a sign of friendship during the Civil war. That sign of friendship was directed against England and was instrumental in preventing England from helping the Confederate States of America by running the blockade and delivering badly needed supplies to the south. Documents proving this are on file at Juneau."

And Charles E. Richmond, Butler, Pa., reproves me for saying Dutch King William III of the English was never in Ireland.

He was not only present, but he crossed the Boyne at the head of his troops and fought and won the battle where his friend and military adviser Marshal Schomberg lost his life. King James, the exiled British monarch, was also present, and took to his heels when he realized his army was facing defeat. The story is that when the Irish heard King James had fled they were indignant and a trooper exclaimed, "Change kings and we'll fight it over again!" Another anecdote is to the effect that shortly after reaching safety, King James met an Irish lady and remarked that while perhaps her countrymen could not be described as great fighters, they were undoubtedly great runners. To which the lady replied, "Your majesty excels them, for you have won the race."

From that day down to the reign of Philip, Spain waxed more powerful with the passing of each decade. This Philip was the bigoted son of Charles V and under him the House of Hapsburg ruled practically all of Europe. It was a great Empire. Philip's reign was another bloody affair. He became within an ace of ruling England after his marriage with Mary. The persecution of the Protestants in Europe, including England, was terrific until after Mary's death, Elizabeth assisted by the winds of heaven, destroyed the Spanish Armada.

At that time Philip's dominion had extended to the Western World and his galleons looted Mexico and Peru. The defeat of the Armada marked the beginning of the fall of the Spanish Empire, and it has fallen so low that today the Loyalist Government of Spain has become more Communistic than the rule of the Soviets in Russia.

This summer the present Act of this great drama began when under two Generals—Francisco Franco and Amelio Malo—the Moors were again brought across from Africa to assist what was left of right thinking and right dealing in Spain and to regain their heritage. The Moors may have been pretty rough with the Visigoths, but they are getting their revenge now for the treatment they received at the hands of Ferdinand and Isabella.

War is a very unpleasant subject, and a Civil War, is especially fierce, but this present Civil War in Spain is probably as bloody and relentless as any War, Civil or otherwise, that has ever happened in the history of mankind. It is terrible to think of the toll Franco and Malo are going to take from this so-called Loyalist Government. The Loyalists butchered their captives; they have murdered the priests of the Roman Church; they have destroyed their hostages, and the penalty they are going to pay is going to mark the end of this Act.

What is going to be the script written for the next Act will be very interesting to the world.

ORIGINAL HALLOWEEN PARTY ON SATURDAY

NOVEL BIRTHDAY PARTY SURPRISE

Garbed as an old witch, Mrs. Carroll Forrest of West Washington Street extension proved herself a charming receptionist to a group of friends on Saturday evening.

Clowns, devils, gypsies and such characters that run around this time of year, joined the crowd of mummies which made her home a rendezvous. Mrs. Emma Caverden, as a well upholstered colored mammy, won the prize for concealing her identity the longest.

The house, gloomily lighted, was decorated throughout with crepe paper festoons and autumn leaves, while hordes of owls and bats, old witches and black cats added spookiness to the whole scene.

After the guests had all unmasked, a period of fun ensued. Various games, puzzles, and brain teasers kept the troupe busily engaged for sometime. The successful winner for these events were: Pearl Cartwright, Margaret Chill, Alice Engles, Laura Bacon, Margaret Grattie, Wilma Mooney, Lena Ross, Eleanor DeGilio, and Trixie Scilla.

Refreshments were served in the dining room by candlelight, at an attractively appointed table. It was centered with a pumpkin fruit bowl with bright colored leaves and a sprinkling of nuts containing the charming effect the whole length of the table. Orange colored candles and hand made favors which marked the covers further carried out Hallowe'en suggestions.

A bingo game, at which Mrs. Ellen Pilshaw was victorious, followed the repast. At a late hour, the happy crowd departed, expressing their pleasure for the evening's hospitality and success from clever original invitation which were written in verse by the hostess, to the smallest detail.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—Random musings: A surprising number of New York youngsters have a career eye on grand opera... In my block there is a taxi driver who studied for years as a warbler and still hopes to return to the high notes... A young man lives in my building who works nights at a cigar counter to finance a course of lessons with a singing teacher... I had heard that every young Italian hoped to be either a bull-fighter or a dramatic tenor, but the widespread interest here is unexpected; the pop-priced Hiddodrome Carmens and Aidas are tangling traffic in the Radio City neighborhood every night...

The rise of Rosa Ponselle is my favorite operatic success story.... Rosa and her sister, Carmela, were in vaudeville singing popular songs at piano... Their name was Ponzillo in those days, and one night through a mutual friend Rosa was invited to dinner at the home of the great impresario Gatti-Casazza.... After a few rounds of spaghetti—ever today, in violation of all the rules, Rosa winds a platter of the starch ropes before a performance—Rosa got up timidly and began to sing at the piano, doing a difficult aria from "Romeo and Juliet."... She finished, there was a pause.... "What a voice!" cried Gatti-Casazza in a hoarse whisper.... And Rosa, misinterpreting his excitement as disapproval and scorn, fainted dead away in the middle of the floor.... Two weeks later she was singing at the Met....

Aims Of Roosevelt

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—President Roosevelt is not the "lineal heir of the progressive movement of 1912," according to a statement by Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, widow of the former President, made public today.

The statement was made in a letter to James D. Garfield, secretary of the interior in Theodore Roosevelt's cabinet, and was called forth by a statement of Democratic Senator Vic Donahue of Ohio, who, in a speech likened Theodore Roosevelt to Franklin D. Roosevelt, declaring that he represented the same "progressive ideals" as the former President.

constitution to "safeguard the liberties of the people," he asked:

"Why do I recall this history?"

Then, answering his own question:

Bears On Campaign

"Because it bears directly upon the tremendous issue that confronts us in this campaign. Because the threat to constitutional government that now menaces our country in the New Deal is a threat as well to the American way of life on which our present and future well-being depends. Because it is the essence of the New Deal that the constitution must go in order to give men in Washington the power to make America over; to destroy the American way of life and establish a foreign way of life in its place."

Want That Dictatorship

"With American liberties at stake, it might not be inappropriate to buy this guillotine and set it up in front of the new judicial temple which frowns across the park that separates it from the capitol."

"New industries will not just happen as the automobile industry did. They will have to be foreseen, to be argued for. The future is becoming visible in Russia. The new kind of economic machinery we have in prospect cannot function in our present economy."

Want That Dictatorship

After reading Tugwell's words, Landon demanded: "Do you want the kind of dictatorship this New Deal leader advocates? The builders of the American system were not of this breed."

Landon also called on President Roosevelt personally to present "his theory of government frankly to the people at the polls."

"The president has no right to ask for votes without telling the people his intentions," Landon insisted. "Frankness in government is just as vital as truth in securities."

The Republican nominee charged Roosevelt and his spokesmen were trying to confine public attention to the first three or four months of his administration.

"They ask for another four years of power because back in 1933 for a few weeks they remembered their platform pledges," said Landon.

"They hope the country will forget how those pledges were thrown out of the window. They hope the country will forget what every community knows—the waste, extravagance and the humiliating political coercion involved in the handling of relief."

"The pattern is gradually becoming cleared. Shall we give four years more to the men who are working on this foreign pattern? Shall we give them what they will continue to make a mandate to finish the job?"

"Shall we vote to return to the American system under the American constitution?"

"I know what your answer will be on the third of November."

Assails New Deal Advisors

In support of his charge against the president's New Deal advisors, Landon quoted, without mentioning his name, a paper read by Rexford Guy Tugwell to the American Economic Association a few years ago. Tugwell's words were:

"The original guillotine which decapitated Louis XVI local friend of the American colonies when they needed a friend, was sold in France on St. Valentine's day for $167.00."

"Planning will necessarily become a function of the federal government. Either that or the planning agency will supersede that government."

"Business will logically be required to disappear. That is not an over-statement of the fact for emphasis. It is literally meant."

"Planning implies guidance as to capital uses. This would limit entrance into or expansion of operations. Planning also implies adjustment of production to consumption."

"New industries will not just happen as the automobile industry did. They will have to be foreseen, to be argued for. The future is becoming visible in Russia. The new kind of economic machinery we have in prospect cannot function in our present economy."

Want That Dictatorship

ASSERT KING WILL MARRY MRS. SIMPSON

Friends Declare His Intentions

Marriage May Take Place Eight Months After Her Divorce

KING EDWARD VIII WAIVES PRECEDENT

(Copyright, 1936, by International News Service)

LONDON, Oct. 26.—King Edward VIII of England will marry Mrs. Ernest Simpson of Baltimore, Md., some eight months after she obtains her divorce decree at Ipswich, intimate friends of the monarch revealed today.

Mrs. Simpson is expected to obtain a divorced decree nisi tomorrow. Close friends of King Edward stated he is deeply and sincerely enamored of Mrs. Simpson, and that almost immediately after his coronation he will take her as his consort.

These friends stated definitely that the king is convinced this will be the wise and correct thing for him to do, since he believes it would be a mistake for a king of England to marry into any of the royal houses of the European continent, thus involving himself and his empire in the complications and disasters of these royal houses.

Convinced Of Wisdom Of Step.
It was disclosed the king is also convinced that in this day and generation it is absurd to try to maintain the tradition of royal intermarriages in view of the physical and political disabilities which he believes likely to result from that custom.

Intimate associates of the monarch pointed out his brother, the Duke of York, has been extremely happy and fortunate in his marriage to a commoner, the former Lady Elizabeth Bowes-Lyon.

King Edward, it was learned, believes the marriage he contemplates would be equally happy and that it would help him carry out his intention of reigning in the interests of the people.

Finally, it was stated, he believes that the most important understanding and relationship between England and the United States, and that his marriage with Mrs. Simpson may aid in bringing about beneficial cooperation between English-speaking nations.

But primarily, friends of the king said, his transcendent reason for marrying Mrs. Simpson is that he ardently loves her, and does not see why a king should be denied the privilege of marrying the lady he loves.

Thus, it was stated, in all human probability, in June, 1937, one month after the coronation ceremonies, the festivities of the marriage of King Edward and Mrs. Simpson will take place.

Liquor Board To Hold Examinations

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Oct. 26.—The Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board announced it will hold competitive examinations "in the near future" to fill vacancies in the administrative and stores divisions of the organization.

Positions carrying annual salaries of $900 and 10,000 will include janitor, janitress, junior stenographer, clerk, stenographer clerk, file clerk, multigraph and multilith operator, store clerk and store janitor. Examinations for store clerks will be held in every county except Forest and Union. Examinations for janitors will be in Allegheny, Lackawanna, Luzerne and Philadelphia counties.

Application blanks will be available at all liquor stores on and after October 27, the board said, adding that applications must be in by Friday, Nov. 13.

Callahan To Speak Before Kiwanians

Charles J. Callahan, ticket-freight agent of the Pennsylvania railroad here, will be the speaker at the Kiwanis club meeting in The Castleton on Wednesday, October 28. The topic for Mr. Callahan, a member of the club, will be "What I Saw When I Was Looking."

THE PARENT PROBLEM

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

CURBITING THUMB SUCKING

Perhaps all infants suck their thumbs, fists or fingers occasionally. At least, they put the hand often to the mouth. The hand finds its way to the mouth soon after birth.

In most hospitals the new-born infant's gown has very long, roomy sleeves which reach well over the end of his hands, and has a drawstring by which the sleeves are tied shut. This is a good preventive measure. For the older baby a sleeping bag, very roomy, which encloses all the child except the head, and fits snugly but comfortably around the neck, may prove desirable.

Perhaps the infant will turn from nursing at the breast to sucking his thumb. If this is pronounced it may indicate that the child has too much or too little food, or that it is not quite suited to him. The doctor's guidance then is necessary. At any rate, it is well for the mother to remove the baby's hand from his mouth very gently then, or at other times when she is with him while he is awake. As the child grows able to hold or reach for things it is well to slip a toy into the offending hand. All such procedure should be very gentle and nonchalant. To jerk out his hand, or to scold him or show any emotional disturbance, will probably prove disastrous and stand a barrier to future efforts at correcting the habit.

Serious With Older Child

The thumb-sucking problem usually is recognized as serious by the time the child is three, four or older, and the older he is the more and the older he is the more difficult the problem. Usually there is a history of months or years of emotional expression by the mother over it and growing resistance by the child. And just because the thumb sucking has become a source of comfort to the child, irritations incident to attempts to correct the thumb-sucking only help make the habit persist. The thumb is his solace in times of discomfort, and when he gets discomfort from the anxious mother's trying to correct it, he naturally seeks his solace. Even the tense emotional atmosphere creates, may cause his thumb to go often to his mouth and stay there longer. She and he might then gain more relief if she were to enjoin him more and show him more affection.

For the child over three or four, any hope of correction will come through reduction of emotional tensions and increase in the child's interest in co-operation. If, as in the last resort, cuffs over the elbow are resorted to, to be effective, the child must be won to choose to comply and have no association of the measure with punishment.

Five Classes Are Being Started At Y. W. During Week

Classes In Varied Subjects Being Offered For Women And Girls Of City

meet Tuesday afternoons at the Y. W. C. A. from 2 to 3:30 o'clock. It will be especially interesting to mothers of school-age children. The purpose of the discussion and study is to bring about better understanding between mothers and children.

Wednesday from 1 to 3:30 the story telling group for Sunday school teachers and young mothers, taught by Miss Eve Nicklin, will be in session. Miss Nicklin has taught for the last eight years in churches and conferences and will give practical training to her group.

Shorthand review will be repeated this season again by request. This will be the fifth year this course has been offered, with Miss Genevieve Riddle, of the high school faculty, as director. Wednesday evening of this week from 7 to 8 o'clock, in the "Y," the first two lessons in Gregg will be reviewed. Badminton and tennis will be taught in the gym Saturday afternoons from 2 to 4 o'clock by Miss Bramham. Badminton is a new game in this part of the country, but a very interesting one. It is played with tennis rackets and the class members are being asked to bring their own. Other equipment will be furnished.

Other classes which have already been launched at the association, but which are still open to new members are dramatics, handcraft, interior decorating and political science.

NEW CASTLE, PA.

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—Locked arm-in-arm, the bodies of a man and woman were found Saturday in a parked automobile in Suburban Bayside, apparently willing victims of a suicide pact.

The bodies were identified tentatively as Edward J. Timoney, 43, and Rose Vorisek.

Carbon monoxide fumes had sealed out both lives. A rubber hose, attached to the exhaust pipe of the car, had been run into the rear seat through a hole bored in the rear of the machine. Windows and doors of the car were tightly closed.

Note to publishers: People don't prefer books about filth. When nothing else was available, men drank shoe polish.

Rush To Pay Taxes And Save Penalties

County Treasurer's Office Thronged This Morning As Deadline Approaches

Office of County Treasurer Joseph H. Hartland was thronged Saturday morning with applicants for hunting licenses, and with delinquent taxpayers anxious to take advantage of the act allowing them to pay their taxes, less penalties and interest, before November 1.

Treasurer Hartland stated that so many have postponed paying their delinquent taxes that it will tax the capacity of the office to take care of them this week. This does not apply to individuals alone, but many corporations have deferred paying until the last week.

In order to get advantage of the act a taxpayer must pay up the 1935 taxes. He can then pay taxes delinquent before that year and save the interest and penalties. If he does not have the money to pay cash, payments will be distributed over a period of five years, twenty per cent of the amount due to be paid each year.

There is considerable advantage to the taxpayer who takes advantage of this opportunity. It is not necessary to have the 1935 taxes paid, if the 1935 are paid.

Ray Gray To Battle Frank Karak Tonight

Seven Other Amateur Boxing Bouts, Including Heavy-weight Battle On Arena Garden Fistic Docket; First Bout To Start At 8:15 P. M.; Sanctioned By State Commission And A. A. U.

Tonight is Punch Night at the Arena garden, Neshannock avenue, sixteen promising youngsters of eastern Ohio and western Pennsylvania having been matched for eight amateur bouts and indications are the garden will be filled to capacity when the first bout starts at 8:15 p. m.

While it is anticipated that every battle will be a slugfest, the fans will look to Ray Gray of New Castle and Frankie Karak of Youngstown to provide many thrills in the feature three round scrap. They are middleweights and recognized as the best middleweights in their individual community.

It has been some years since New Castle and Youngstown were pitted against each other in a pugilistic way and no doubt there will be considerable rivalry exhibited both by fighters and fans when the middleweights enter the ring in the last bout scheduled.

Karak score a knockout over Jack Sharkey at Youngstown a few nights ago. He turned the feat in Tom Carney's Diamond belt tournament. Gray earned an enviable amateur boxing reputation when he stopped Billy Banton at East Liverpool and later beat Keith Goodballet in the Arena garden.

Two Well Known Boxers

Another bout scheduled for tonight will bring together two of the fastest Ohio lightweights now romping in amateur boxing rings. They are George Davis, state champion and Earl Donaldson, Golden Gloves champion of Youngstown. They have more than usual class exhibited by amateurs hereabouts.

There will be more than 400 pounds of fighting flesh in the ring when Jimmie Dime's heavyweight, Joe Charff of Beaver Falls tackles Nate Richardson, a colored boy, who hopes some day to take Joe Louis' place. Nate is trained by Walt Singer and Kink Richards across the Philadelphia goal line for a touchdown each in the last nine minutes of play. The Giants were trailing 17 to 7 when the last quarter opened.

Nick Albert Is Brought To His Home On Saturday

Nick "Tarzan" Albert, the New Castle tackle who suffered an injured back was brought to his home here on the South Side Saturday night from the Warren, Ohio, City hospital, by Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner.

Albert seems to be getting along nicely, but will not be fit for play for another week or two. He suffered a contusion and ligamentous injury to his back in the New Castle-Warren game.

Erie East High Here On Friday

"Red Hurricane" Faces Another Tough Foe In Final Night Battle Of Year

Head Coach Phil Bridenbaugh had the New Castle High "Red Hurricane" eleven out on Taggart Field this afternoon for a workout. Erie East High with a powerful team will be the opponents on Friday night in the final night game of the year. Coach Jim Hyde of Erie was an interested spectator at the New Castle victory over Warren last Friday night and had the following to say: "We are pointing for New Castle this year, but after seeing the New Castle boys upset a fine Warren team tonight, we will have to be topnotch Friday night to take the victory."

Eric Rests Up

Erie East was idle last week and this will give them two weeks of rest for the New Castle game. There is no getting around the fact that East High wants to get back at the Castles for the defeat handed them at Erie last fall. East tied with Academy this year 0-0 and was defeated by the famous Ashland, Kentucky team 6 to 0 in the two most notable games of the year for the Easters so far. East outplayed Ashland, but lost in the closing minutes of the game.

New Castle gets ready for Erie with a bunch of cripples on hand. Nick "Tarzan" Albert, the tackle who suffered an injured back will probably not ket in the Erie game and Dal Mumford the field general has a badly twisted knee. Several of the boys are nursing bruises suffered at Warren. Rousos will probably get the call at the right tackle post and Falkovich will be groomed for the signal barking job. All that "Palky" needs is more experience.

Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner today announced a double header for Friday night. The New Castle junior varsity will play the Mercer high varsity team at 7 o'clock. The gates will probably be opened at 6:30 o'clock Friday night.

Sharon-Midland Win Grid Games

Two of the remaining New Castle High opponents won their grid battles Saturday afternoon.

Sharon High whipped a fine Sharpsville team on the latter's field 19 to 7. Midland High upset Ellwood City High 20 to 0.

Erie East and Martine Ferry high were idle last week.

SEVERAL FINED FOR DISORDERLY CONDUCT

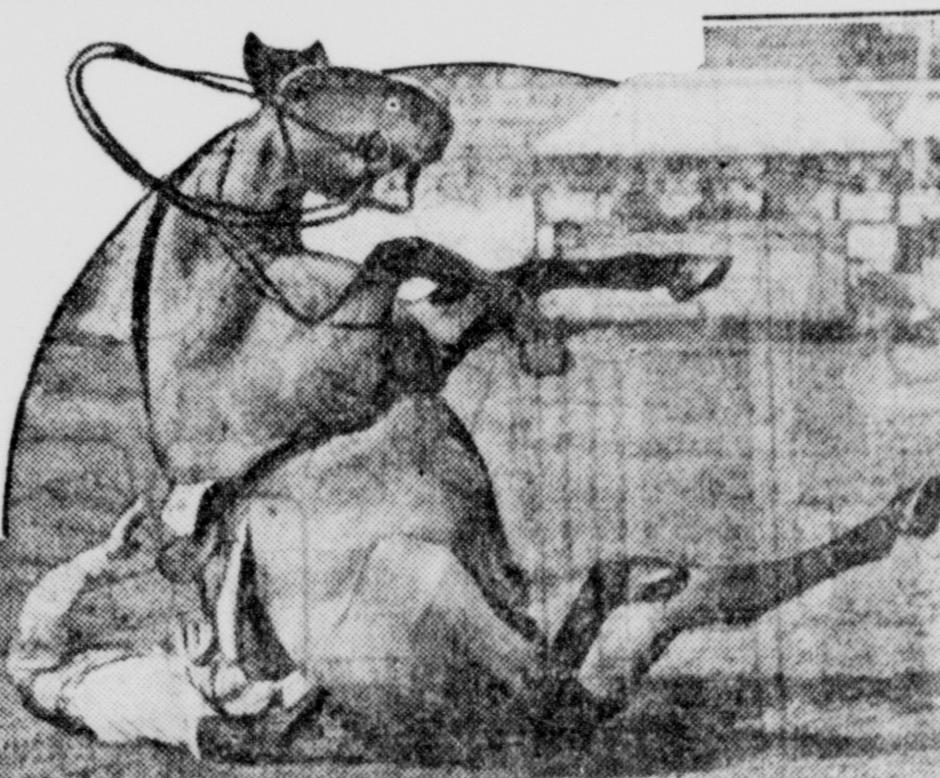

L. F. Hartman and Paul MacLay each were fined $5.00 for trouble in East Washington street Saturday night and Clarence Winter and Harry Rheobottom were each fined $10.00 by Mayor Charles E. McGrath for trouble in Winter avenue. Sunday morning Emmett Barnes colored, who was with Edward Craig, also colored, both of whom are "boomers," were ordered out of town. When arrested Saturday Barnes had a razor, according to police.

Tiny Tarzans Grunt 'n' Groan

Strangler LaPorte, all of 6 years old, is on the mat, giving a lift to Strangler Joe Connolly, of the same advanced age. The Strangler bounced in Joe about and twice pinned his shoulders to the mat. It all happened in the Baby Tarzan wrestling tournament for doddering old wrestlers between 5 and 7 years old, staged by the Madison Square Boys' Club of New York City. (Central Press)

Gophers Keep Slate Clean

Upset Purdue 33 To 0, On Way To Another National Championship Is Belief

PITT IS WINNER OVER NOTRE DAME

By DAVID J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—Maybe there's something more to be said for the last weekend in college football than the blank, frank and unadorned statement that the University of Minnesota won another game by a score that sounded like a license plate. As a matter of fact if I'd only stuck it out in night school, I'd probably have been able to come up with something original like the gentleman a few days ago who found himself in a position to upbraid football because he knows so much about lawn tennis.

Gophers Great.

As it is, all I can think of is that Minnesota ran its parlay into 21 straight by beating the hitherto unbeaten Purdue team by 33 to 0 and there's absolutely no going behind a thing like that, any more than you can go behind the wall paper.

It's topping everything, including the 26 to 0 defeat of the hitherto unbeaten Notre Dame outfit by Pitt, the 15 to 13 victory of Tennessee over unbeaten Duke after coming twice from behind; the 7 to 6 win of Fordham over St. Mary's and the fact that Louisiana State, Marquette, Northwestern, Southern California, Tulane and Auburn, among others, kept on winning.

They're good. So are unbeaten Holy Cross, Villanova, Alabama, Yale, Army, Texas A. & M. and Washington State, not to forget once-beaten teams like Nebraska, Washington, U. C. L. A. and Pitt and even twice-beaten teams like Ohio State. But, sheerly on the records, Minnesota is better.

It now has beaten Washington on the west coast; Nebraska, the best in the Missouri valley, and Michigan and Purdue in the Big Ten. If it gets by Northwestern this week there'll be nothing for it but to admit that this team can do everything with football, except swallow it.

Favorites Lose.

In making these somewhat bolsterous statements, I'm trying very hard not to take anything away from those teams that are doing well, but there's nothing that's asked of them but to suffer by contrast with the maelstrom from Minneapolis. Noteworthy, in fact, among Saturday's returns were the victories of those undefeated teams over previously unbeaten opponents: Marquette 13, Michigan State 7, Tulane 21, North Carolina 7, and Fordham 7. St. Mary's 6.

Incidentally, I'm beginning to look sideways at the Notre Dame system after learning what happened at Pittsburgh and Minneapolis and seeing Fordham and St. Mary's muddle around at the polo grounds. The head linesman, Austin Lake, was accused of stopping Fordham with numerous penalties for having a man in motion, was strictly in the clear. He had to stop the gun-jumpers or turn in his credentials. As for St. Mary's, it stopped itself.

Holy Cross Wins.

Holy Cross, another Notre Dame kid, went going with a meritorious 7 to 0 decision over Carnegie Tech. But if it was playing Purdue, a lot of money would have ridden with the latter. I'm quoting that as a means of showing how Minnesota now stands in relation to the rest of the country. Yale is still in there with a 23 to 0 score against Rutgers. Springfield, they are first rate teams, but strictly not the kind that is prepared to make a bare hand stop of the Overland Limited.

Ray Gray To Battle Frank Karak Tonight

Seven Other Amateur Boxing Bouts, Including Heavyweight Battle On Arena Garden Fistic Docket; First Bout To Start At 8:15 P. M.; Sanctioned By State Commission And A. A. U.

Tonight is Punch Night at the Arena garden, Neshannock avenue, sixteen promising youngsters of eastern Ohio and western Pennsylvania having been matched for eight amateur bouts and indications are the garden will be filled to capacity when the first bout starts at 8:15 p. m.

While it is anticipated that every battle will be slugfest the fans will look to Ray Gray of New Castle and Frankie Karak of Youngstown to provide many thrills in the feature three round scrap. They are middleweights and recognized as the best middleweights in their individual community.

It has been some years since New Castle and Youngstown were pitted against each other in a pugilistic way and no doubt there will be considerable rivalry exhibited both by fighters and fandom when the middleweights enter the ring in the last bout scheduled.

Karak score a knockout over Jack Sharkey at Youngstown a few nights ago. He turned the feat in Tom Carney's Diamond belt tournament. Gray earned an enviable amateur boxing reputation when he stopped Billy Bunton at East Liverpool and later beat Keith Goodballet in the Arena garden.

New York Giants Defeat Eagles To Take League Lead

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—The New York Giants today led the Eastern division of the National Football League was a result of a 21 to 17 victory over the Philadelphia Eagles.

More than 15,000 excited fans saw Walt Singer and Kink Richards cross the Philadelphia goal line for a touchdown each in the last nine minutes of play. The Giants were trailing 17 to 7 when the last quarter opened.

WHEALE A. C. LOSES

Wheale A. C. lost a 36-30 football pounds of fighting flesh in the ring when Jimmie Dime's heavyweight, Joe Charff of Beaver Falls tackles Nate Richardson, a colored boy, who hopes some day to take Joe Louis' place. Nate is trained by the well known Tiger Randall of Pittsburgh.

Mickie Rubin, New Castle lightweight, has a hard fate ahead of him in the person of Julius Walters, of Campbell. They fought a stirring three round battle last summer at Taggart field. Since then Rubin has improved and hopes to take Walters. Julius hopes to do likewise.

Nick Albert Is Brought To His Home On Saturday

Nick "Tarzan" Albert, the New Castle tackle who suffered an injured back was brought to his home here on the South Side Saturday night from the Warren, Ohio, City hospital, by Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner.

Albert seems to be getting along nicely, but will not be fit for play for another week or two. He suffered a contusion and ligamentous injury to his back in the New Castle-Warren game.

Jimmy Patton who got his start at the Dime gymnasium returns to his home town to oppose Johnny Costa, a hard hitter, according to Frank Ward of the Youngstown Vindicator. Ted Blasak, Beaver Falls, will meet Harold Blank and Carl Brown will match fists with Charles Houser.

The doors to the Arena garden will be opened at 7:15 p. m., one hour before the first bout. Judging from the interest in tonight's glove circus the crowd will outnumber that which attended the inaugural of winter boxing two weeks ago tonight.

The boxing proclivities are under the supervision of the State Athletic commission and Amateur Athletic union. The boxers all box three three minute rounds. The referee and judges will be local with Ed. Fritz in charge of the promotion and B. J. Biondi representing the Commissioner Dr. M. E. McClelland.

Erie East High Here On Friday

"Red Hurricane" Faces Another Tough Foe In Final Night Battle Of Year

Head Coach Phil Bridenbaugh had the New Castle High "Red Hurricane" eleven out on Taggart Field this afternoon for a workout. Erie High with a powerful team will be the opponents on Friday night in the final night game of the year.

Coach Jim Hyde of Erie was an interested spectator at the New Castle victory over Warren last Friday night and had the following to say: "We are pointing for New Castle this year, but after seeing the New Castle boys upset a fine Warren team tonight, we will have to be topnotch Friday night to take the victory."

Erie Rests Up

Erie East was idle last week and this will give them two weeks of rest for the New Castle game. There is no getting around the fact that East for the defeat handed them at Erie last fall. East tied with Academy this year 0-0 and was defeated by the famous Ashland, Kentucky High team 6 to 0 in the two most notable games of the year for the Easters so far. East outplayed Ashland, but lost in the closing minutes of the game.

New Castle gets ready for Erie with a bunch of cripples on hand. Nick "Tarzan" Albert, the tackle who suffered an injured back will probably not get in the Erie game, and Dan Mumford the field general has a badly twisted knee. Several of the boys are nursing bruises suffered at Warren. Rousseau will probably get the call at the right tackle post and Falkovitch will be groomed for the signal barking job. All that "Palky" needs is more experience.

Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner today announced a double-header for Friday night. The New Castle junior varsity will play the Mercer high varsity team at 7 o'clock. The gates will probably be opened at 6:30 o'clock Friday night.

Sharon-Midland Win Grid Games

Two of the remaining New Castle High opponents won their grid battles Saturday afternoon.

Sharon High whipped a fine Sharpless team on the latter's field 19 to 7. Midland High upset Ellwood City High 20 to 0.

Erie East and Martins Ferry high were idle last week.

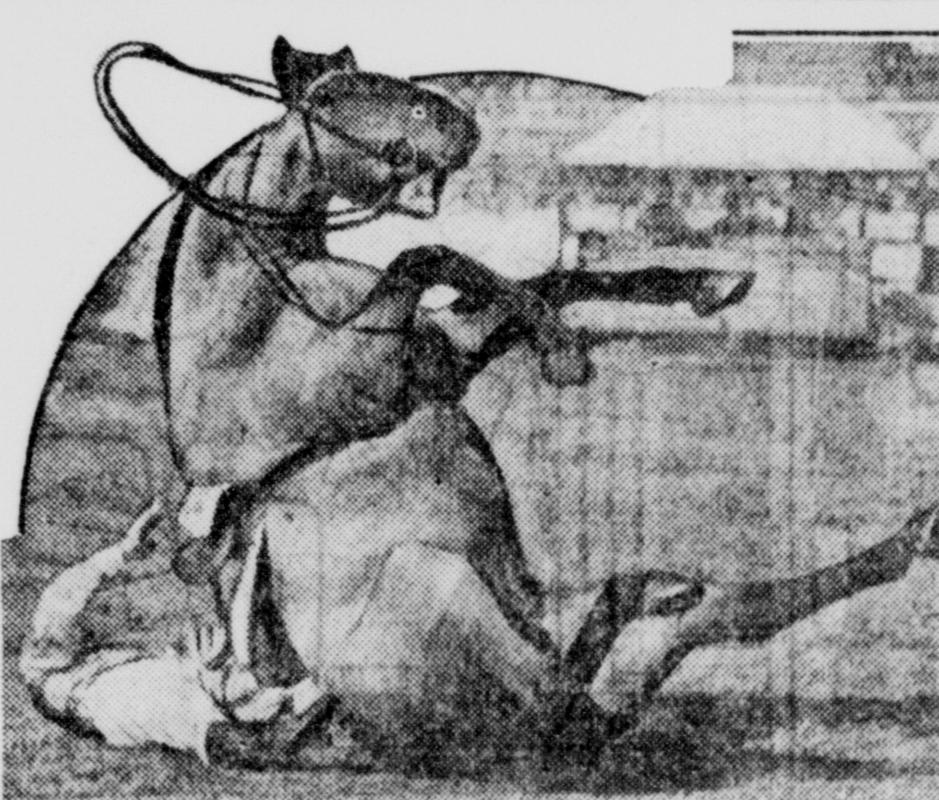

SEVERAL FINED FOR DISORDERLY CONDUCT

L. F. Hartman and Paul Maghary each were fined $5.00 for trouble in East Washington street Saturday night and Clarence Wimer and Harry Rhoebottom were each fined $10.00 by Mayor Charles E. McGrath for trouble in Winter avenue, Sunday morning. Emmett Baines, colored, who was with Edward Craig, also colored, both of whom are "boomers," were ordered out of town. When arrested Saturday Baines had a razor, according to police.

Tiny Tarzans Grunt 'n' Groan

Strangler LaPorte, all of 6 years old, is on the mat, giving a lift to Jumping Joe Connolly, of the same advanced age. The Strangler bounced Joe about and twice pinned his shoulders to the mat. It all happened in the Baby Tarzan wrestling tournament for doddering old wrestlers between 5 and 7 years old, staged by the Madison Square Boys' Club of New York City.

Look Out Below!

A remarkable spill, this picture was taken during the Hunters Centenary Plate at Adelaide, Australia. Reform is shown a moment after he had fallen heavily with his rider, W. C. Howie. He rolled over on Howie, but the latter was not seriously hurt. (Central Press)

Mass Meetings Held In Moscow

Thousands shout "Spain Must Have Arms", Will Help Halt Fascist Drive

(International News Service)
MOSCOW, Oct. 26.—Screaming "Spain must have arms," tens of thousands gathered at mass meetings throughout the U. S. S. R. today, and the fact that the gatherings had semi-official sponsorship indicated the government is about to announce open aid for the Spanish loyalists.

This view was borne out by resumption of the official press campaign against non-intervention.

Grotesque in gas-masks, 10,000 workers carried out military tactical maneuvers in the streets of Dnepropetrovsk, waving slogans proclaiming their readiness to "help our Spanish brothers until the Fascist rebels are completely defeated."

Plans have been completed for the annual fall reunion of the Valley of New Castle Consistory A. A. S. R. which will convene on Wednesday for the conferring of degrees.

One of the largest classes of candidates in recent years is expected to present to take the degrees, and renewed interest is being shown in the coming event by the members of the body.

The new officers headed by R. Reed Megown, Commander in Chief, have made preparations for one of the old-fashioned gatherings where good fellowship will prevail, and a large attendance of members from the outlying points is looked for.

The candidates will assemble on Wednesday morning and the work of conferring the degrees will last through Friday.
